Nov 22 - 30, 2020

Only

Come along as Mike and Nikki visit and dive one of the most popular dive destinations in the world on the newest vessel being offered.

The Socorro Aggressor will sail to Socorro, San Benedicto and Roca Partida which make up the three volcanic islands of the Revillagigedo Islands commonly known as Socorro.

Located 250 nautical miles south of Cabo San Lucas, Mexico at the tip of the Baja Peninsula, it takes 24 hours to travel to this magnificent area. Socorro is best known for the wonderful encounters with giant pacific manta rays, where the mantas come to the divers and are happy to stay throughout entire dives. There are up to ten species of sharks including whale sharks, silkies, silver tips, white tips and sometimes tiger sharks.

Whale sharks are seen mainly in November/December and April/May. Divers may also observe many different behaviors of manta cleaning stations, Bottlenose dolphin, wahoo, tuna, marlin and smaller creatures like eels, nudibranchs and octopi. This Socorro liveaboard trip will be wild and unpredictable diving at it's best!
